'MUMS—make a riot of color in the fall!

Chrysanthemums are a glorious way of bidding farewell to another blooming season. They brighten the garden when practically all else is fading, and their cheery colors seem to forecast another good year ahead. So plan plenty of them, and you will rejoice in the splendid effect both outdoors and when used as cut-flowers in the home.

ALGONQUIN. Bright clear yellow. Aug. 25.
AVALANCHE. Large white blossoms carried in branching sprays. Sept. 25.
BURGUNDY. Wine-red; tall. Early October.
